Message:

I am opposed to the current push for redistricting. The push to redraw the boundaries of voting precincts is out of sync with the needs of Texans who are hurting from the recent floods. Voting districts are up to date as of the most recent census so there is no need to redistrict at this time -- while so many of the voting citizens of Texas are trying to recover from loss of every thing: homes, businesses, family members, and their whole way of life.

The time and resources being misdirected to redistricting are sorely needed to help Texans who experienced devastating losses in the recent floods, as well as for flood damage mitigation and much better early warning systems.

Please do all you can to reject out of season redistricting.
