Message:

As a mother, and a proud Texan, I can't stay quiet while our communities are once again being targeted through unfair redistricting. I oppose any attempt to redraw legislative maps in ways that silence our voices and strip power from the people—especially Black, Brown, and working-class Texans who've fought too hard just to be seen and heard.

Let's be clear: gerrymandering is not just politics as usual—it's a deliberate attack on democracy. It's a way to lock everyday people out of decisions that shape our schools, our neighborhoods, and our futures. And as a mother, that's not something I can accept. Our children deserve to grow up in a state where their voices matter just as much as anyone else's.

We've seen this before in Texas—maps drawn behind closed doors to protect power, not people. That's not justice. That's not democracy. And it's not what our families deserve.

I'm calling on the Texas Legislature and redistricting committees to do what's right: reject any map that disenfranchises voters or divides our communities. Be transparent. Be fair. Listen to the people you were elected to serve.

Because Texas belongs to all of us—not just those in power. And as a mother, I'm fighting for a future where my children—and yours—can thrive in a state that sees and values every single voice.
