Message:

I am deeply disturbed that this Congressional Redistricting is even a possibility. This is a direct assault not only on our freedom but truly upon humanity. The corrupt leader of our federal government, who has consistently shown significant moral failing, demanded that this state change laws to enable his whims and now we're just rolling over. Does Texas not have a back bone? Are our leaders this weak? Are we forgetting how we became a state? In all sincerity, do you remember the Alamo? We have a history of fighting for ourselves. I was born in this state and love this state but the actions of late are reprehensible and not reminiscent of who we are at our core. Texans are supposed to be strong, friendly and honest - I am not seeing that. I'm exhausted by the small men who were elected to fight for their districts that are exclusively making decisions out of fear. I am urging you to grow up.

If this passes, we are signaling to everyone that we in fact, can be tread on. If this passes, we render our past null and void. We would be demonstrating that we are a state that rolls over, we aren't strong and we clearly aren't honest. We can be bought, and bought really easily, really even without trying.

This is an attack on freedom, this is an attack on what is right and quite frankly this is embarrassing.

Greg Abbott, as a fellow UT alum, let me emphasize that our alma mater's motto of "What Starts Here Changes the World" is meant to be for the better, not the worse. Please bear that in mind moving forward.
