Hello, I am writing in regards to the newly proposed congressional map of Texas. The changes suggested by this legislature are obviously an anti-democratic attempt to immorally and illegally carve an advantage for the Republican party at the expense of Texas citizens.

I realize the voices of myself and the countless others who oppose Donald Trump's parasitism will likely be ignored so long as he holds power, but I would like to remind you that an alliance with dictatorial measures and authoritarian ideology can only lead to ruin. This lesson is oft-repeated through history, yet its siren's call seemingly has the power to entice and blind those weak enough to believe true strength can be found in domination.

I would invite you to consider your place in history. If you wish to be remembered as the individuals who unquestioningly fell in line behind a egotistical, anti-intellectual, and pedophilic tyrant, then continue on your current course. If not, then please remember that in unity we have power, and cooperation has never before been so sorely missed or so absolutely necessary.

I am a native Texan, born and raised. I visited the congressional hall as a child and always imagined it to be a place deeply reverential of reason and justice. I have a great deal of love for our state, and wish to see it thrive. However, I see the Republican party of today as unrecognizeable from that of my grandparent's day, and am dismayed by its current direction. I hope you will listen to the constituents whom you represent and were elected by.
