Message:

I am a concerned Congressional District 18 constituent who votes in EVERY election. I strongly oppose any attempt to redraw Texas congressional maps in a way that consolidates political power at the expense of fair representation—especially for communities of color. Redistricting should be a tool for democracy, not a partisan power grab. Unfortunately, what is being proposed by Republican leadership, including Donald Trump, appears to do just that: undermine the voting strength of Latino, Black, and other minority communities in Texas. These communities have fueled the state's population growth and deserve equitable representation—not to be diluted or divided for political gain.

This is not just bad policy—it's an affront to our democratic values. Voting maps should reflect the people, not entrench those already in power. Fair maps mean fair elections. Efforts to silence voters, especially those from historically marginalized communities, are unjust and will be challenged.

I urge you to reject any redistricting plan that undermines the Voting Rights Act, weakens minority representation, or prioritizes partisanship over people. Texans deserve better. Moreover, this is being done because of pressure from the White House- is that ethical? TELL GREG ABBOTT AND DONALD TRUMP NO!!
