Message:

I am appalled that Texas is allowing itself to be used by the President to keep him in power. Texas has been gerrymandered for years to keep Republicans in power. While that is appalling enough, especially given the ways that Republicans have treated it's residents, it is even more appalling to know that our president can request an illegal act, and the Republicans in our state will happily give it to him. If Republicans don't start standing up for the people in our state, you will lose the next election. We, the people are tired of the idiocy and nonsense going on. Every election cycle sees Republicans saying they want change in the state of Texas and yet they are the ones that have been in power since 1995 with nothing but our taxes going up, our roads are getting worse and the officials in the state are getting richer. Helping the President to gain five more Republican seats in this state will backfire on every single one of you that votes for it. as a lifelong Texan, it is appalling to see this happening. To see Republicans doing everything they can to keep a convicted felon in charge instead of doing what's right by citizens. Did you know you can publicly comment for the committees on a redistricting in Texas? Here is mine:
