Message:

I am disheartened that Texas lawmakers are working to keep democracy from working. I live in Austin and the proposals of new Congressional districts keep my vote, my neighbors' votes, and my community votes from being fairly represented. There is no good reason that the proposed districts make any sense other than to keep a community who is more Democratic and progressive from being accurately represented.....I probably cannot change your mind today, but I can and will vote, and I will spend my time and money encouraging others to vote. Eventually, the Texans who created these plans will lose elections and the people whose voices (votes) are being silenced will rise back to power. This is how history works.
