Message:

Why waste time on redistricting at this time when there are so many issues that are much more important to your constituents.

Why have Texans not seen a single proposed redistricting map? The DOJ sent a letter riddled with contradictions and inaccurate information to suggest that our maps must be changed. There is no mandate for redistricting to take place mid-decade, and while Texans are recovering from the flood disaster, Republicans are more focused on rigging electoral maps instead of revising flood maps. Why is there not a single bill that's been introduced by Republicans to help flood victims and their families?

Our community needs to stay together and needs help, especially on federal issues like Medicaid, infrastructure, education funding, and more.

I would prefer to see the Legislature spend more time dealing with real issues instead of what @realdonaldtrump wants them to focus on, distracting them from the real work of representing their constituents.

Please stay focused on what is really important and not what our so-called President thinks our state needs. He has no idea what everyday Texans want, but only has his own self-interest at heart.

Thanks for your attention,

Nancy
