Message:

I am against the current mid-decade redistricting proposal. Redistricting should happen after the census in order to equalize population among electoral districts after the census indicates population has increased or decreased over the last decade. It's meant to be about population, not about political party.

This mid-decade, mid-session redistricting is a thinly veiled power grab. It isn't about fairness, it is about realigning districts to privilege one political party over another. The four targeted districts all currently lean Democratic and rely on "coalition" voting strength. Houston, Harris County, and Dallas-Fort Worth are currently targeted districts and redrawing those maps allows the politicians to choose their voters, not voters choosing their representatives.

The DOJ and President Trump have been clear- find 5 more Republican seats in the House of Representatives. In the United States, our system is one person for one vote and the voters pick their representatives. Political parties and Presidents shouldn't define the "right"

representatives and then allow them to pick their voters.
We don't cheat in Texas, we don't rig the system. This is cheating.
Stand against this unethical power grab.
Thank you for your consideration.
