Dear Representative/Senator or Redistricting
Committee Members,

My name is Angie Elias, and I am a proud U.S. citizen and Texas resident. I am writing to express my strong opposition to the current redistricting efforts that appear to be intentionally designed to weaken the political power of voters in major cities—especially those who lean Democratic.

This is not just about party lines; this is about democracy. Manipulating district boundaries to favor one political party over another goes against the core principles of fair representation and violates the spirit of our Constitution. Redistricting should reflect the population accurately—not silence voices based on where they live or how they vote.

As a Texan, I expect our elected leaders to uphold the integrity of our democracy and ensure every vote counts equally. I urge you to reject any redistricting maps that are partisan, discriminatory, or drawn without transparency and input from the communities they affect.

We, the people, are watching—and we will hold our leaders accountable.

Sincerely,
Angie Elias
Carrollton, TX
